Sewer delays frustrating

"Disappointment" and "frustration" are the words Art Ward, owner of the Wig-a-mog Inn, uses to describe his feelings about the prolonged delays in extending Haliburton's sewer lines to the north side of Lake Kashagawigamog.

Plans for the extension were set back by at least a year when nine Ministry of Environment employees flew in last week to deliver some surprising news to Dysart et al Townships council. According to the ministry, Haliburton's sewage treatment facility is not able to accommodate the increased flows that would result from the extension.

"The bureaucrats should have forecast this," said

200 treated for scabies

In an effort to rid Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home of a scabies outbreak that has plagued the residents and staff for close to a year, the Home was closed off to visitors for more than two days while treatments were applied.

Close to 200 people were treated for the annoying skin irritation after it was identified September 23 that scabies is the cause. The wide-scale treatment should be the end of a year-long struggle to determine exactly what was causing the itch experienced by both residents and staff members, says Administrator Karl Samuelson.

"There is no cause for alarm and no reason for anyone to hesitate visiting the Home," Samuelson said in an interview last Wednesday. "Our standards of hygiene and cleanliness are among the highest in the land," he insisted.

Attendants join CUPE

Because of the "turmoil" experienced over the past few weeks by the Haliburton ambulance service, employees have voted overwhelmingly in favour of joining the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

According to ambulance attendant Bill Davis, 13 of the 15 full-time and part-time employees have signed, and the group is anticipating automatic recognition under the Ontario Labour Relations Act. Davis says support of 80 per cent of the employees is all that is needed to qualify for this automatic recognition.

Since Dysart et al opted two weeks ago to give up its management responsibilities for the ambulance service, the employees have been concerned about what direction the ambulance service would be heading. "Our biggest concern is that we don't know where we're going," said Davis, the former Deputy Reeve of Dysart.

Although Dysart council voted in favour of having the Ministry of Health put the management duties up for open tender on September 18, Davis said the employees were not officially informed of the decision until last Monday.

In a special meeting of Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships council last Tuesday, Minden agreed to take over the management of Haliburton's ambulance service until the end of March, at which time, it is expected the service will again be turned over to private management.

In their decision to form a union, Davis says the ambulance employees are ensuring that their concerns are dealt with. With the service eventually being turned over to private management, he said, the employees are concerned that personnel from outside the area might be recruited. The efficiency of the ambulance service would suffer if employees who are unfamiliar with the area were brought in, he said.

While the ministry has guaranteed job security for the six full-time attendants, it would offer no guarantee for the six part-time workers. Davis said that the employees met with the ministry on Thursday to assure them that the

Just rumours

Dysart et al Townships Reeve Murray Fearrey denies rumours that an investigation is being conducted into the financial bookkeeping at the township's office.

Contacted last Thursday about the rumours, Fearrey said he had no idea where they were coming from. He said he had heard a rumour that municipal clerk Wayne Wood would be retiring at the end of the week. When said he was told that Wood has no immediate plans to retire.

Other gossip indicated that Haliburton's move to abandon its management of the ambulance service indicated that this was forced upon them by the Ministry of Health. However, when contacted last week, the ministry's regional manager Fred Rusk discounted this rumour. He said Dysart's decision to give up the management function was generated by the municipality. He also said he is not aware of any investigation into the townships' books.

Gone hunting

A preliminary hearing into fraud and theft charges against a Minden entrepreneur were postponed by two weeks in Minden Provincial Court September 30.

Joseph Cannon appeared before Judge D.J. Halikowski last week seeking an adjournment until such time as his lawyer would be able to appear. The court heard that Cannon's lawyer, Bill Baker, would not be present in court Wednesday because he was on a moose hunting trip.

In allowing the adjournment until October 14, Judge Halikowski said, "I don't think we should prejudice Mr. Cannon because of Mr. Baker's behaviour." He asked that a notation be made of the costs incurred by Crown witnesses who had travelled from Toronto for the hearing.

Cannon and JMC Builders each face six charges of fraud and three charges of theft.

Judge Halikowski also said he wants to have the attitude of Baker addressed at the October 14 hearing.

FOREST FIRES

Burn more than trees

This year there have been 45 forest fires in the Haliburton and Minden areas. The forest is still very dry and the potential for losses due to fire is high.

The accumulation of fall leaves will enable an uncontrolled debris fire to spread very quickly and cause extensive damage.

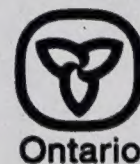

Before you burn your brush or debris, remember these important points:

- 1. You must obtain a fire permit;
- 2. Ensure that a responsible person tends the fire;
- 3. Keep the fire under control;
- 4. Upon completion, put your fire dead out. Even if it appears to be out, stir it, and drown it with water, again and again, until you're sure it is out.

FIRE PERMITS ARE FREE OF CHARGE

During the fire season (April 1st to October 31st) the Forest Fires Prevention Act requires you to obtain a permit to be kept at the burning site and shown to an officer upon request. If you don't, you could be fined up to $1,000.00, imprisonment up to three months and liable for any costs and expenses involved in extinguishing a resulting fire.

For further information please contact your local fire department or the Haliburton Fire Operations Headquarters at 457-2107.

Teachers get more preparation

The Haliburton County Board of Education has approved a policy statement regarding preparation time for elementary school teachers in the system. The provision of time during the school day for teachers to prepare lessons and consult with other teachers is at the centre of the current strike in Metro Toronto.

The policy had been discussed at some length at the August meeting of the board, and was endorsed following a closed session of the board September 23. The policy states that the board recognizes the benefit for elementary school teachers in having time away from their teaching duties during the day to plan and prepare their work. It states, "The Board will attempt to provide 200 minutes per week for preparation time for each full-time teacher." The amount of time provided for teachers working less than a full day will be pro-rated. Secondary school teachers are currently guaranteed two free periods per day for preparation purposes.

At the August meeting the board was told that the county's elementary teachers had mentioned the possibility of including preparation time in their contract during salary negotiations. The matter was dropped before the contract agreement was reached, on the understanding that the board would prepare a policy on the issue.

It was noted during the discussion in August, that through the use of itinerant teachers, such as those instructing French, physical education, religious studies and music for example, most classroom teachers do have some time away from their teaching duties on a regular basis.

While the policy indicates the intentions of the board, it was pointed out in August that, especially in the smaller schools, it may be impossible to ensure that the teachers will get the 200 minutes suggested per week. Members of the board felt the phrase, "...will attempt to provide..." recognizes this limitation.

Rising enrolment

All but one of the schools in Haliburton County have noted an increase in enrolment according to figures circulated at the September 23 meeting of the board of education. The student population across the county has risen by 111 full-time students.

The largest increase was seen at Archie Stouffer Elementary School in Minden where 46.5 students were added to the enrolment. (Half students are represented by those attending less than a full day, such as kindergarten students.)

Royal paving tender picked

At the second special meeting in as many weeks, September 29, Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships council voted to accept the tender from Royal Paving Limited of more than $75 million for the paving of the Bobcaygeon Road.

Acceptance of Royal Paving's tender of $795,074 is subject to final approval from the Ministry of Transportation and Comunications.

At an earlier special meeting on September 24, council passed a bylaw closing off traffic to Orde Street.

At that same meeting, another bylaw was passed "to acquire title to a certain property known as Part 4 on a preliminary plan of Survey, being part Lot 3, Concession A, in the Township of Minden for municipal purposes."

'Special meetings'

The less we know, the better off we will be. Or, at least this seems to be the attitude that Anson, Hindon and Minden townships council has adopted over the past few weeks.

In a span of five days, council has called two "special meetings" where some important matters were dealt with. In both of these cases, neither the public nor the press was notified that council would be meeting.

Now, it could be argued that anyone who is interested in what happened at those meetings could obtain a copy of the minutes from the township office. However, as anyone who has ever read those minutes will know, they really don't tell you anything.

On September 24, just one day after a regular meeting, council met again to pass two bylaws. According to the minutes of the meeting, the first bylaw was to "stop up and close to vehicular traffic a presently travelled Township Road." From that description, they could be closing almost any road in the townships.

The second bylaw had them acquiring a piece of property. If anyone is interested in finding out where this property might be, they will have to unscroll their copies of the Official Plan of Survey. Here's a description the minutes give: "Part 4 on a Preliminary Plan of Survey, being Part of Lot 3, Concession A in the Township of Minden..."

If you find this confusing, we urge you to call one of our council members for an explanation.

At the next special meeting, which was held on September 29, council opened tenders on a road paving contract that will cost more than three quarters of a million dollars.

Did they accept the lowest tender for this? The only way we can find out is, again, give our councillors a phone call.

Hold onto your hats; there's more. After meeting in private prior to their regular meeting on September 23, to discuss taking over the management of Haliburton's ambulance, council made its final decision on the matter at the September 29 meeting, which, in effect, was another private meeting.

Is council trying to protect us by clamping a lid on any meetings where delicate issues are discussed? It's more likely that they are covering their own behinds.

Celebration '88

- by Bill Scott, M.P. -

On May 7, 1987, the federal government announced a new program called Celebration 88. The program is multi-faceted and involves numerous joint ventures with both the public and private sectors.

The objectives of Celebration 88 are straightforward, it will give all Canadians the opportunity to participate in the 15th Winter Olympics. In celebrating the Olympic spirit, Canadians will take pride in their accomplishments and as Canada steps once again into the international stage, we will demonstrate that we are the producer of world class events.

Thanks for donation

Editor:

On behalf of the residents of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home, I wish to express our most sincere appreciation to the Rotary Club of Minden for their recent donation of six hundred dollars ($600.00). The funds will be used for the purchase of new lawn chairs for the residents.

The Rotary Club has always been a solid community asset and their generosity has not gone unnoticed at Hyland Crest. Again, many thanks.

Nothing is free

Editor:

It's the responsibility of a newspaper to ensure its columnists have the facts.

I refer to the September 28, 1987 - Kulas comments on free trade.

1. Ask Bob White how he feels about the Auto Pact being a chip on the bargaining table at the Free Trade talks.

2. If the Americans mount a wholesale Protectionist Policy - the Canadian Dollar will gain strength on the open market.

3. Losing our Canadian identity is NOT without merit.

4. The E.E.C. is only the 'European' countries and does not include Eastern and Central Asia or the Islamic neighbours, to name a few.

The formation of the EEC was to protect those small countries - from being undertraded because the cost of running their countries is so much higher than their neighbours.

Additionally, the EEC is NOT successful. Besides MAJOR arguments over price wars, their black markets work against themselves.

And lastly,

5. The 'Euro Dollar' never got off the artist's table, because, once again, the Free Trade Deal is anything BUT free - and they couldn't agree on the price of a buck.

Minden to Minden

Editor:

From Minden to Minden. Having 46 tourists in the beautiful County of Haliburton is not all that special, but when they travel all the way from our sister city of Minden, Germany it is worthy of special note.

Marj Jennings of Loreale Country Inn on Halls Lake reports that the group has booked accommodation with her for next year, but twice as many will make the trip. They surely must have enjoyed their visit.

Two towns of the same name both located on the banks of a pretty river but with vastly different histories.

It is reasonable to assume that in the late summer of the year 1759 a hunting party of native Canadians stopped their canoes on the river bank near the Post Office site in town. They built a fire, had lunch and perhaps skinned their catch of beaver before continuing on to their camp on Gull Lake.

In that very same late summer of 1759 a scouting party also stopped on the banks of the Weser river 40 miles west of Hanover, Germany, across from the picturesque town of Minden. Their purpose and activities were slightly different in that they were an advance party of an enormous army led by Winston Churchill's illustrious ancestor, the first Duke of Marlborough.

The following morning the great General won a stunning victory over the French cavalry, but at a horrible cost ... 3000 men perished in the battle that day.

While the school children of our Minden learn of the nomadic Indian Tribes and their struggles to survive against the inroads of civilization, their German counterparts in Minden are shaped by dramatically different events.

What do you think about...

Berton's ties

by Bill Kulas

Logging in our province is a large multi-million dollar industry. Thousands of employees rely on it for their livelihood. Over the past fifty years the industry has undergone tremendous changes. Where in the past strip logging was common practice, new methods and technologies of harvesting the forest along with more stringent government regulations have made the logging industry much more efficient.

Much greater importance is now being placed upon controlled lumbering as well as promoting the renewable resource aspect of the industry.

Just look at our are for example. There are countless independent loggers in our county not to mention Martin Lumber, who contribute significantly to the local economy.

Over the past few months, area loggers to the north of us, in the Temagami area have been in the limelight. A group of the artsy elite led by Pierre Berton, Margaret Atwood and Timothy Finsley, just to name a few, have unsuccessfully tried to put a halt to logging in an area called the Lady Evelyn wilderness area. Chief Gary Potts, leader of the Temagami Indian band in a statement said, "Ontario takes our timber away and sells it for millions of dollars to logging companies, who in turn pull in their millions. We watch our homeland forest being destroyed and the remaining small patches of virgin timber disappear."

There are two sides to every coin and two sides to the logging issue up in Temagami. The naturalists and conservationists, would like to preserve the area, which, by the way, covers approximately 1500 acres of forest. On the other hand, the provincial government wants to allow area loggers to harvest the timber in that area in order to ensure employment and the well-being of the area economy. Who is right? Who is wrong?

Most certainly, a rich and famous writer like Pierre Berton, in my opinion, isn't a credible spokesman for the conservationists. Isn't the paper from which his countless books which have been published, a wood product? Pierre Berton is an overly opinionated writer who doesn't know diddly about the lumbering industry nor about dressing. Have you ever seen him with those outlandish bow ties he used to wear on "Front Page Challenge"? Maybe he'll hang on to them for a while. In fifty years, who knows, they might just be back in style again. What do you think?

Visits build harmony

of Minden, Germany are once again confronted by hostile invaders. Lead tanks of the British Grenadier Guards along with an American Army Tank party pull up in the hills across the river from Minden. The results were the same: the town surrendered, but fortunately without loss of life on this occasion.

Perhaps some of our recent visitors as children on that day 43 years ago huddled terrified, with parents in their cellars to await the Burgermeisters negotiations for a peaceful surrender to the British and American troops.

Haliburton County and Minden are to be congratulated for hosting the visitors from our sister city in Germany. It may be that only by such people to people experiences can we build a stronger basis for a more tranquil life with a future for the citizens of all the Mindens of the world.

Freeway driving madness

by Arthur Black

Recent occurrences on the expressways in and around Los Angeles tell me that this weary world is ready - nay, overdue, for Larry Symington and his ingenious invention.

You've heard about the goings on going on in the streets of L.A.? It has to do with cranky drivers. Now I can't speak for you when it comes to driving habits, but I happen to be a virtual Road Knight of Chivalry and Fair Play - and I'm willing to assume that you are well-nigh faultless too. But I'm equally certain that, like me, you meet your share of boorish and inconsiderate car jockeys practically every time you pull out of your driveway.

I don't know how you handle discourteous drivers, but when I'm cut off, or out-hustled to a parking space or trapped behind some waddling Winnebago I have a full gamut of responses ranging from wimpy "Drat!"s and "Dagnabbit!"s blended with discreet horn bleats all the way up to purple-faced, vein-popping curses accompanied by a shaking fist.

Or a digital portion thereof.

That's more or less the way most mild-mannered Canucks handle driver disputes - at least the ones that don't require the services of a policeman, an ambulance or The Jaws of Life. In Los Angeles, you won't be surprised to hear, they do things differently.

They use guns.

No, really. This summer, the Los Angeles Police Department had to contend with a wave of gun-toting maniacs cruising the collector lanes and blasting away at any other freeway users who had the bad taste to annoy them.

They weren't shooting at the tires either. At last count dozens of Los Angelenos had been hospitalized by the autobahn assassins. Four motorists and passengers had been shot dead.

But that's the whole problem with in-transit communication between motorists - you're very limited in what you can communicate. There's not a lot you can say to someone who pulls abreast of you in a glass and steel cocoon that's hurtling along at sixty miles an hour. He or she usually has the windows rolled up, the radio going full blast and probably couldn't hear you over the roar of the engines and the whine of the tires anyway.

Sign language? That's limited too. You can wave if you feel friendly or make an obscene gesture if you're not - but aside from flashing your lights or leaning on your horn, that's about it for driver-to-driver rapport.

Which is where Larry Symington, bless his creative little heart, comes in.

Larry is an idea man from Tennessee who has come up with a gizmo that revolutionizes vehicular intercourse. He calls it The Wacky Window Waver.

I know, it sounds stupid, but listen to how it works: Let's assume that you're driving on a four-lane highway and Larry Symington's car has just passed you on the inside lane. But uh-oh, Larry Symington's exit is coming up sooner than

Four escape crash

Four Toronto area residents escaped uninjured when their twin-engined Piper aircraft overshot the runway at a private airstrip in Guilford Township on September 26.

Investigating officer Constable Bill Clendenning estimated the damage at $100,000 to the plane. Yet, despite the extent of the damage, all four passengers walked away without a scratch to a nearby cottage where they called for help.

The pilot was 27 year old Max Leger of Toronto. The total value of the six seat plane was $100,000.

New cable offered

Coboconk residents could have access to a 12-channel cable television service by the end of the year, with Norland, Sunderland and Kinmount coming on line over the next two years.

Ray McMurray, owner of the new North County Cable TV, says his surveys have shown a tremendous interest in the project. With a $500,000 investment, he says the first stage of the project, serving Coboconk and Rosedale, could be completed by this Christmas. The service will be expanded to Norland by next summer. McMurray hopes to have the cable service hooked up in Sunderland some time in 1988 and in Kinmount by 1989.

Initially, McMurray said he had planned to put the service into Coboconk and Norland at the same time. However, he said the hydro lines are not able to take the extra weight, and the cable will now have to be buried.

Once the system is built in Coboconk, subscribers in that area can enjoy 22 channels for a monthly fee of $21.60, says McMurray.

On the roads

he anticipated. Now he needs to get back in, in front of you.

Normally this would lead to a classic intimidation-resistance-submission scenario thousands of which are played out daily on our highways. Larry might put on his turn signal, then begin to edge in front of your car. You, depending on your mood, would either accelerate to cut him off or brake to let him in.

But not this time. Instead, you see a diamond shaped sign pop up in Larry Symington's rear window. It reads: CAN I GET INTO THIS LANE? Astonished, you ease up on the accelerator. Larry's car slides in front of you. The sign disappears from his window to be replaced with one that says THANK YOU!

That's the Symington Wacky Window Waver. It's an electronic device that fits in the rear window of any car and is activated by a button by the driver's seat. It comes with a whole slew of signs ranging from the breezy HI, HOW ARE YOU? (Larry's a bit of a flirty devil) through DIM YOUR LIGHTS! and HELLO ROAD HOG! to some snarly ones that are too bloodthirsty for a family newspaper like this.

Beauty of it is, you can make up your own signs and attach them to the Wacky Window Waver. Anything you like ... from HELLO GOOD LOOKING to ... well, let your imagination (and a cursory acquaintance with Canada's obscenity laws) be your guide.

A word of advice, though. If there's any chance at all that you might some day have to drive through Los Angeles

Make sure you don't have any Wacky Window Wavers that could possibly be mistaken for a bulls-eye.

Motorcycle accident claims life

A 21 year old Stanhope Township man was killed last Tuesday when he lost control of his motorcycle and hit a number of guideposts on Highway 35, just north of Highway 118.

Jeff Buist was operating his 1982 Yamaha motorcycle northbound on Highway 35 and apparently lost control on the wet road, Minden OPP reports.

Provincial Constable Ken Wesley is investigating.

employees are taking steps of their own to protect the part-time employees.

While the issue of wages is not a priority in the employees' decision to join CUPE, Davis notes that the Haliburton attendants are among the lowest paid in the area. With an hourly wage of $10 for full-time attendants, he says they are paid less than their counterparts in Minden. Although all ambulance employees are, in effect, paid by the ministry, Haliburton attendants are paid almost $2 an hour less than Peterborough attendants.

"We all do the same job and we have the same training," said Davis. Yet, the pay varies all across the province. He said ambulance employees are public servants and there should be a standard pay scale across Ontario similar to that of the Ontario Provincial Police.

By joining CUPE, Davis says the employees have ensured that the quality of service residents have come to expect will continue. He said the present employees care about the welfare of the community will do everything possible to maintain the level of service.

Heroes up for awards

Stephen Orlitsky and Bernice Maione are being considered for bravery awards through the Chancellery of Canadian Orders and Decorations for their efforts in rescuing two Stanhope Township residents from their wrecked car on August 22.

Leanna Barker and Gary

Chapman were trapped in their car after it crashed into a rock face and burst into flames. Orlitsky and Maione were passing by, and when they witnessed the accident, they put their own lives at risk to free the two from the car.

Last week, Barker's mother, Anne, received a letter stating that a file had been opened, and an investigation into the near-tragic event will take place to determine if the bravery awards are warranted.

"...you may be assured that the completed dossier will receive careful attention by the Canadian Decorations Advisory Committee," wrote Daniell G. Dougall, Chief Decorations and Medals.

Anne Barker, who is a Stanhope Township Councillor, had written to Governor General Jeanne Sauve in early September to nominate the two for this award.

Scabies common to institutions

Actions sufficient

Despite the length of time it took before scabies was identified as the cause of the rashes and itch at Hyland Crest, a report completed by Medical Officer, Dr. Mikel, indicates that the action taken by the Home in addressing the problem has been sufficient.

"The measures taken by the Home thus far have been more than adequate," Dr. Mikel wrote. "Management has done everything possible to rid the Home of insects."

The following is a brief history of what has been done to deal with the problem over the past year as described by Administrator Karl Samuelson.

November to December, 1986: Complaints of rashes and itching from five or six residents were identified by the house physician as scabies. Treatment for scabies was applied in these cases.

January to June, 1987: Management heard infrequent complaints from the staff about being bitten by some sort of insect. The number of complaints increased, and in July management was convinced the problem was caused by insects in the building.

July 24: Samuelson called PCO and insisted that some thing be done to rid the home of the insects. Upon inspection, PCO concluded that birds nests on the roof and in the eaves of the building housed the insects. The nests were destroyed using a high-pressure chemical spray.

At the same time a number of insect traps were placed around the Home, which were later collected and brought in for examination.

August 10: The insects caught in the traps were identified as swallow and chimney swift mites.

August 14: PCO returned and conducted a complete spraying of the building. The spray residue was allowed to sit for a few days, during which the number of complaints of bites was reduced. However, when the residue was cleaned up, the number of complaints rose again.

August 24: PCO was again called in and sprayed into "every nook and cranny" in the building where mite eggs could be hidden. Although the residue of the spray was allowed to sit for two weeks, the number of complaints persisted. PCO indicated that no insect could have survived the treatment that was given.

September 22: A meeting was called with Medical Officer of Health Dr. Mikel, Home Physician Dr. Stephen Dawson, Nursing Director Mrs. O'Hara and Administrator Karl Samuelson to discuss the problem.

September 23: Dr. Dawson contacted a dermatologist in Toronto for advice and was told that the symptoms resemble scabies. Dawson was told that 10 other homes in the Toronto area were experiencing similar problems.

September 24: Samuelson met with Dr. Dawson and two other doctors where a plan of action was laid out to deal with the outbreak here.

September 30: All frequent visitors to the home were contacted and urged to obtain treatment for scabies. At 5 p.m. the Home was closed off to visitors while staff and residents received treatment. The Home was to be reopened by Saturday morning.

The fact that there has been an outbreak of scabies at Hyland Crest is no indication of the Home's cleanliness, said Samuelson. Once introduced into a facility where there is a lot of close contact, such as schools or health care facilities, scabies spreads rapidly, he said. He notes there are at least 10 homes in Toronto that are dealing with similar outbreaks and another on Manitoulin Island.

"Scabies did not start here and it will not end here," said Samuelson. He said it is important to make people aware of what has been happening to deal with the problem in order to "combat the ugly rumours that have been circulated."

Once the problem was identified as a scabies outbreak, Samuelson said the Home acted as quickly as possible to start treatments. Close to 100 regular visitors and family of staff were contacted last week by the Home and treatment was urged. Regular visitors are those who have visited Hyland Crest three or four times a week over the past month and have been in close contact with residents.

In order to eliminate the problem within the Home, Hyland Crest was closed at 5 p.m. on Wednesday and remained closed until 10 a.m. Saturday while staff and residents were treated.

Samuelson said the Home was faced with two options in dealing with the outbreak. The first option involved treating only those people showing signs of having scabies. Samuelson said he, along with board member Bob Vick, House Physician Stephen Dawson, Nursing Director Mrs. O'Hara and Medical Officer of Health Dr. D. A. Mikel, decided this may not be thorough enough. He said that because there is about a two-week incubation period with scabies, a second outbreak could follow after the treatment.

Instead, the Home opted for a thorough blanket treatment program involving everyone who has come in close contact with residents or staff. He notes that this sort of comprehensive treatment was recently carried out at a Home on Manitoulin Island and was successful in irradiating the problem.

Although the problem has existed for more than a year at Hyland Crest, it was not confirmed to be scabies until September 23. Because the complaints heard from residents and staff were of bites, it was assumed that the problem was caused by insects.

Samuelson said PCO was called in on a number of occasions to rid the home, firstly of birds nests, and then chimney swift and swallow mites.

Samuelson believes that scabies was introduced to the Home late last summer or early fall when a resident was transferred from a health care facility in Toronto. Although the woman's medical assessment showed no signs of scabies, Samuelson says there is little doubt that she was carrying it. Because of the incubation period, it is believed that the tell-tale rash and itching had not yet developed.

Last November and December the house physician identified five or six residents having scabies and treatment was given.

Redmen still undefeated

The Haliburton Highlands Secondary School junior and senior soccer teams maintained their no-loss records Thursday as both teams put in strong performances on their home field to down Fenelon Falls.

The Junior Redmen opened with a hard-fought 1-0 win on a goal by Darnell Francis, assisted by Darin Parish. Chris Holliday-Rhodes played a strong game in the nets to earn the shutout.

Thursday's win boosted the junior record to one win and two ties.

The Senior Redmen followed suit by winning their game 2-0 over a tough opponent.

Jan Haedicke and Darryl Goodall were the marksmen boosting their team's record to two wins and a tie.

Coach Walter Tose says the team has a good shot at winning this year. He says there are a good number of strong players and the team has a lot of spirit.

In naming the players he felt put in a good showing in Thursday's match, Tose said he would almost have to recite the whole roster. He said Mark Sorensen and Jan Haedicke both played an outstanding game. He also noted that this was the third game in a row that he has seen a solid performance from midfielders Trini Elias, Darryl Goodall and Rob Thibadeau. He also credited Chris Lanigan with a steady performance in net. Fullback Steve Stoughton also played well, said Tose.

Canada Post announces a commitment to all Canadians.

Every Canadian deserves to know what is happening at Canada Post. For fundamental change is under way that will benefit every one of you. We'll be the first to admit, it's time Canada Post improved. Now, for the first time, we have the sort of change that allows us to make a concrete commitment of better service for you. These changes haven't come easily. We've been working on them for over two years. We're running this ad so you will know what the changes are and how they will help you. And these changes are by no means the end. They are just the beginning. We will continue to improve. And we will continue to keep you informed.

8 immediate actions to deliver better service.

1. Retail Franchises to bring you longer hours and convenient locations.

Standardized postal outlets are going up all over rural and urban Canada in grocery stores, book stores, drug stores, shopping malls and the like. Each offers you all the things you can get at traditional post offices plus the benefits of the stores they are in, including convenient location, parking and longer hours. Each outlet observes strict security standards. Our first franchises are already up and running in Toronto, Winnipeg and London. Our objective is to have 50 active by year end. Over the next 10 years, the total number of postal outlets will increase from 12,000 to 18,000.

2. More places to pick up and post your mail.

Over the past year, we've added over 3,500 new mail drop off points across Canada. We are adding new retail franchises and more Supermailboxes where you can conveniently post your mail. We've also added more than 360 postal outlets where you can pick up parcels, registered letters and any other mail you must sign for. We will continue to add even more postal outlets for mail pick up and post, based on locational analysis that tells us where they are most needed.

3. A more dependable nation-wide transportation system.

Improvements to our transportation system make it more dependable and reduce transport time dramatically. For example, we have phased out the use of trains. In addition to our air and marine transportation, we will use additional trucks for land transportation. Trains follow set schedules, whereas trucks can come and go as needed. This can speed up transport as much as two days for mail moving between Montreal and Vancouver.

4. Faster delivery of incoming, duty-payable foreign mail.

We've negotiated with Canada Customs to allow you to receive duty-payable foreign mail before duty is paid. Instead of being held at a Customs office, your mail will now be delivered directly to you. You can then send Canada Customs a cheque for the amount owed.

5. Tight controls to keep the price of stamps in line.

Our new, tighter management controls, in addition to our efficiency improvements and volume growth, allow us to keep basic letter rate increases at or below the rate of inflation. We are anticipating a 1¢ increase in January, 1988.

6. New processing methods to bring you more reliable delivery.

We're beginning to install new equipment in our plants that speed up processing. We've put all equipment under vigilant monitoring and on rigid maintenance schedules to help avoid breakdowns. What's more, we're using a new colour coding system on all mail. When mail comes in, it's assigned a colour. At any given time, we know whether or not mail is on schedule by simply looking at the colour code. If it's not, we get it back on schedule immediately.

7. New standards to bring you more consistent delivery.

At Canada Post, we know you need delivery you can count on. So we've established a rigid delivery standard that every employee is working to. For properly prepared letter mail, that means a maximum time of 2 days within a city, 3 days between major centres within a province and 4 days between major centres in Canada after the day of mailing.

8. A 24-hour Control Centre to keep your mail on schedule.

For the first time in Canada Post history, we have a Control Centre that's in constant touch with your mail as it moves about the country. If something goes wrong, Control Centre staff know immediately and act immediately. If equipment at one processing plant breaks down they send in a team of technical staff to get it up and running immediately. If a plane is grounded by fog, they send in trucks. Whatever the problem, the Control Centre takes immediate action. And it operates 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Another commitment: we'll put our performance on the line.

At Canada Post, we know we have to earn your respect. To do that, we are prepared to put our performance on the line. How? The answer is Clarkson Gordon, an independent auditing firm. They will monitor our delivery reliability and publish the results quarterly. The first report will be available early in 1988.

CANADA POST CORPORATION

Our commitment: better service for you.

Show reflects varied styles and moods

An interesting and evocative display of weaving by Wendy Bateman is the latest show to grace the main gallery at the Rails' End Gallery in Haliburton. The show called Cultural Crossings opened September 26.

The show features a wide variety of styles and moods from whimsical to serious studies of traditional native designs. The use of a range of materials, including fur, demonstrates the texture and colourful variations that can be achieved through weaving.

Of particular interest is the effort Wendy Bateman has made to capture the work of Native art in weaving. A number of wall hangings are based on figures found etched in stone at the petroglyph site near Peterborough.

She told the small group on hand for the show's opening, that individuals scoffed initially when she told them of her project to capture these images in a woven design. However, the results on display at the gallery indicate that her intense study of the Native carvings and her careful attention to detail have proven she could accomplish both the cultural and textural cross-over successfully.

The opening was highlighted by the completing of a symbolic tipi inside the gallery. Recounting Indian legends and traditions, the artist, assisted by friends, enclosed the stark frame of the tipi with woven fabric strips, providing a colourful centrepiece to the show, a moving tribute to the Native culture she has obviously come to admire and respect.

A second show of woven garments and coverings augments the Bateman exhibition. Spinning a Dream is the work of six women who made a commitment six years ago to master the craft of spinning and weaving. The focal point of that effort was to attend classes at the Haliburton School of Fine Arts each year. The work of Master Spinners Lee Ann Bryant, Trish Coleman, Ann Craven, Margaret D'Esterre, Dixie Dittburne and Margaret Lochhead, on display in the Waiting Room Gallery, amply demonstrate the results of those years of dedication.

Wendy Bateman, assisted by her husband Sid Brinkman and Kent Farndale, left, creates a tipi during the opening of the show Cultural Crossings at the Rails' End Gallery September 26. The covering for the symbolic Native shelter was strips of cloth woven by Wendy. The tipi provides a colourful centrepiece to the latest show at the Haliburton gallery.

Athletics fee approved

Items from the September 23 meeting of the Haliburton County Board of Education.

Fee approved

The board has approved the charging of an annual athletic fee to high school students taking part in extra-curricular athletic activities. The introduction of the $8 fee had been discussed at the August meeting of the board.

HHSS principal Andy Hemphill said there had not been any objections to the introduction of the fee and that a letter had been sent home with students outlining the purpose of the levy.

The money from the fee will be used to help cover the costs of the annual awards banquet and the awards presented to the students.

Salary grids

Approval was given to a 4.5% increase in the salary grid for the director of education and the psycho-educational consultant. The increases are to take effect August 1 and September 1 respectively.

Staff changes

The following teacher staff changes were approved by the board:

- Mrs. Brenda Robinson has been hired as a half-time teacher for the Section 16 class at the Pine River Group Home.

- the resignation of Mrs. Joan Irish from the teaching staff at J.D. Hodgson Elementary School was accepted with regret. The resignation is effective October 31.

Extension delayed again

Ward when contacted last week. He said he is surprised that neither the ministry nor the municipality were not more thorough when they initially approved the extension. "Why, all of a sudden, does this come to light now?"

Dysart Reeve Murray Fearrey said it is possible that an expansion of the treatment facility could be completed within 12 to 18 months. However, it will first have to complete an environmental impact study.

With the treatment plant now operating at about 50 to 60 per cent of its approved capacity, the additional sewer line would bring it up to full capacity. Fearrey said that if this was allowed to happen before the facility was upgraded, it would halt all expansion in the village.

When the sewage treatment plant was built in 1973, it was deemed to be able to handle 220,000 gallons of sewage a day. However, while the efficiency of the system has not declined, new ministry guidelines now limit the plant's capacity to 100,000 gallons per day.

Despite the soaring costs of the project -- now in excess of $4 million -- the 12 property owners who will be required to pay an increasing share of the costs still want to see it through. Ward said that, of the resort owners at the council meeting, all but one were in favour of having the project go ahead.

However, Ward said he is now more skeptical of the costs being quoted to him. While the estimated cost of the project has more than doubled, he said he was told his share has increased by less than 10 per cent.

"I'm not convinced (the figures) are accurate," said Ward. "All the figures are out of the window now." He said the ministry representatives were willing to quote the new costs at the meeting, but nothing was given in writing. From now on, he says he wants to see everything on paper.

In addition to the frustration caused by the delays, Ward says they could result in limiting the business at the Wig-a-mog Inn. Because he was banking on having the new line installed this fall, he said he did not sink any money into expanding his present septic facilities.

For this reason, he says his resort is already operating close to the capacity for his present facilities. "We were really banking on having it completed this fall," he said. "I didn't want to sink money into new tile beds if the extension was just around the bend."

Celebration committees are being formed

along with mayors, community leaders and others, have been given the opportunity of forming celebration committees. These committees will provide leadership to those who wish to celebrate the spirit. Part of their task is to select nominees from all regions of Canada for the Celebration 88 awards.

Celebration 88 Medals honour individuals who have made outstanding contributions to amateur sports which are Olympic-related. Individuals will be chosen from the following categories for their outstanding contribution: Athlete (Male & Female); Volunteer; Coach, Official, and Business.

In addition to the medals, there will be Celebration 88 Certificates. Certificates will recognize those people in the community who have contributed to the quality of life around them. This contribution can be of any "inspirational" nature and recipients can be recognized for demonstrating the Olympic spirit in business, education, culture or community service.

I had the pleasure of forming a Celebration 88 Committee for Victoria - Haliburton. At their first meeting, on September 21, a Co-Chairman was chosen. Mr. Norman Lywood, President of the Lindsay Legion and Mr. Bob Puffer was appointed Publicity Director.

Others, in addition to myself, in attendance were Mr. Bill Curley, representing Brock Township, Mr. Paul Cziraky, representing Peterborough County, Mr. Bryce Young, representing Victoria County, Mr. Sinc Nesbitt, representing Hali-burton County, and Mrs. Marie Alger, from my office. I want to thank them all publicly for taking on this challenge.

No doubt you will be hearing much more about their efforts this fall and I urge you to help Victoria - Haliburton celebrate the spirit

Doctors Craig Kerr and Janis Guthy show the unique chiropractic bed specially designed for Janis' family practice. The new clinic recently opened in Haliburton Village.

Chiropractic office opens

The husband and wife team of Drs. Janis Guthy and Greg Kerr have opened a new chiropractic clinic out of their home in Haliburton Village. The office is in addition to their established practice in Bancroft.

After moving to Bancroft in January, 1986, to take over operation of the Bancroft Chiropractic Group, Guthy and Kerr began looking for a location for a second office earlier this year. Initially, they say they had been looking to Barry's Bay, and they only decided on Haliburton by chance.

Kerr said it was a spur-of-the-moment decision that brought them to Haliburton. They were going on a trip that took them through the village and they both agreed on the spot that this is where they wanted to come.

Both Kerr and Guthy are graduates of the Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College in Toronto. Kerr completed his first year of chiropractic studies in England before transferring to CMCC. He also has a Bachelor's Degree from Wilfred Laurier University and a Master's Degree from the University of Bridgeport in Connecticut.

Guthy also has her Bachelor's Degree from Wilfred Laurier University and has continued to work toward her Master's through the University of Waterloo. She is now just one credit short of her Master's Degree.

With Kerr focusing his skills largely on sports injuries and Guthy's attention more family oriented, the two make a well-balanced team.

Both Guthy and Kerr have been actively involved in making presentations to any special interest groups regarding health matters in Bancroft. They say they will be willing to speak to any groups in this area as well.

Although renovations had set back the planned opening date of their new clinic, they were open for business early last week. The office is located at their home on Robertson Road.

A challenging marathon

Although it is about ten miles short of the official marathon distance, the Muskoka Metric Marathon poses a real challenge to the runners because of the hilly countour of the course, says organizer Patricia Bradbury.

"It feels like more than 16 miles," she says of the race which is to be run for the fourth consecutive year on the Thanksgiving weekend in Dorset. "All of the runners agree that it's no cinch, that's for sure."

Unlike a traditional marathon, the metric version is 26 kilometres rather than miles. However, it is 26 kilometres of heartbreak hills for the more than 75 runners expected to take part this year.

Bradbury says the number of competitors in the Metric Marathon has been increasing each year since the first race four years ago. Last year there were 75 runners and organizers are hoping the number of entrants will top 100 this year. While there is a large number of local runners in the race, the bulk of the entrants come from the Toronto area.

Bradbury says many people see this unique race as sort of an excuse to head north when the autumn colours are at their peak. Because of this added bonus, she says people who happen to be visiting Ontario will make the trip to Dorset for the race. In previous years there have been runners from Vancouver, Baltimore and even South Africa competing in the race.

The race will begin at 8 a.m. on Sunday, October 11 at Paint Lake Road in Dorset. More than 50 volunteers will be stationed around the course at refreshment stops.

In addition to the trophies, sponsored by Amstel Breweries, Bulova Watches and Clayton's and Robinson's General Stores, the runners will be aiming to break the course records set two years ago. Walter Faion for Toronto holds the men's record with a time of 1:29:51. Catherine Didcock, also of Toronto, holds the women's record with a time of 2:1:45.

Bradbury notes that this race attracts some high calibre runners from across the province. She notes that Dave Reid, the winner of the first Metric Marathon recently broke the Canadian record in the 1500 metre distance.

The race is being organized this year by the newly-formed Dorset Runners Club. Key organizers are Bradbury, John Clayton, Paul Kennedy and John Waltho. This is the second of two events put on by the club. Earlier in the year, the club hosted the Dorset Country Mile.

HHSS girls split pair

After suffering an opening-game loss in the first stage of the girls field hockey qualifying tournament at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Wednesday, HHSS fought back in their second game with Lakefield to remain in contention for a qualifying position.

The Haliburton girls dropped their opening game 1-0 to the favoured Thomas A. Stewart squad in the three-team round-robin tournament. Despite the close score, most of the action was contained in the Haliburton end, as goal tender Melanie Duchene was called upon to make a number of big saves to keep her team within striking distance.

According to coach Kit Pizze, the team could afford to lose one game and still qualify for the next round of play. Noting that T.A.S. from Peterborough is probably the most talented team in the league, she said if they had to lose one, this was it.

The second game of the tournament saw T.A.S. take on Lakefield in another low-scoring 1-0 game. Similar to the matchup with Haliburton, T.A.S. was clearly the stronger team. However,

There was a lot of close checking on the HHSS field Wednesday afternoon as the field hockey team met up with Thomas A. Stewart and Lakefield schools in a qualifying tournament.

while they were able to maintain control in the Lakefield end, they had trouble putting the ball into the net.

With both Lakefield and Haliburton falling to T.A.S. the real challenge of the tournament was staged in the third game as these teams met each other.

While this game was more evenly matched than the earlier two, clean passing and strong checking gave Haliburton the edge. The only scoring of the game came in the first half as Corry Ziorjen accepted a cross from Karen Cooper and chipped it over the Lakefield goaltender.

Although only occasionally challenged, Melanie (more on page 19)

Lakefield's goaltender stretches high, but not quite high enough to stop the ball from going into the net during a field hockey match Wednesday at HHSS. This goal was scored by Corry Ziorjen in the first half and it proved to be the lone goal of the game as Haliburton downed Lakefield 1-0.

Drought hampers Hydro

A province-wide drought this summer has affected Ontario Hydro's hydro-electric generation ability, particularly in northern Ontario. Water flows to several reservoirs are near all-time lows and discharges are being cut back to save water for winter energy production.

From January 1 to August 31, 1987, there was about 3.5 billion kilowatt-hours less hydro-electric energy available than in an average year.

To compensate for this reduction in hydro-electric generation, Ontario Hydro has relied heavily on its coal-fired plants at Thunder Bay and Atikokan. The extra reliance on coal-fired generation meant that additional coal had to be purchased to replace fuel that was to be burned during the upcoming winter.

Unless it rains heavily this fall, low water conditions will continue to affect hydro-electric generation and the utility's operation this winter.

Commercial energy manual ready

Ontario Hydro has issued volume two of a manual nicknamed The Source, outlining energy-saving electrical applications in commercial building design and operation.

Produced by the Commercial/Industrial Marketing department, the Commercial Energy Manual, Volume II - Applications, is intended to help architects, engineering consultants and developers.

The manual provides simple guidelines for dealing with complex energy management questions, summarizes design criteria, and pinpoints specific situations where electrical energy management in commercial building design and operation can substantially reduce operating costs.

Copies of the manual can be purchased from Ontario Hydro's regional offices in Thunder Bay, North Bay, Barrie, London, Willowdale and Belleville, Ontario.

Electricity demand Last month's peak demand of 18.5 million kilowatts was reached August 17, up 1.2 per cent from last year.

This summer the peak demand climbed higher each month, setting new records. On May 29, the 20-minute peak demand was 17,293 megawatts; on June 25, 17,947 megawatts; on July 13 18,240 megawatts; and on August 17, 18,516 megawatts.

Ontario customers used 10 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity in August, up 8.5 per cent from the same month last year.

Duchene earns the shut-out

Duchene made a few good saves in the Haliburton net to earn the shut-out.

Wednesday's tournament was the first half of a six-team round-robin qualifying tournament. In two weeks, the Haliburton girls will be travelling to Peterborough to play against Co bourne East, Bethany Hills and Kenner.

Only the top three teams from round-robin play advance to the next round. Coach Pizey says the team will likely have to win all their games in Peterborough to be among the advancing teams.

Keeping up to scratch with infestations

Dr. Stephen Dawson is a Medical practitioner serving the Minden community who writes a weekly column on health matters for The Times.

There has been increasing concern recently in the community about scabies.

This is an infestation caused by the mite known as Sarcoptes scabiei, which is spread from person to person by close direct skin contact. Accordingly, this tends to spread amongst families or in institutions. There are many hospitals and nursing homes in Ontario that currently are infested with this little mite.

Recently at Hyland Crest Home, there has been an outbreak of scabies. It has now, hopefully, been eradicated by a mass treatment program instituted.

Scabies has spread in a world-wide epidemic over the last twenty years. It's something that many doctors see sporadically, almost every week.

The mite burrows into the skin where it lays two or three eggs, which eventually hatch to become adult mites which lay more eggs. The average person affected will have about eleven mites in their skin, but some people will have literally millions of these. The rash tends to affect the web spaces of the hands, the forearms, underarms, breasts and private parts and shows up as little burrows, bumps and blisters with excoriations and eventually scaling and crusting develops with secondary bacterial infections.

The problems encountered with the diagnosis and treatment of this infestation are the following:

1. It takes up to one month to develop the "hypersensitivity" rash that characterizes scabies.

2. After treatment the dead mites eggs and larvae remain in the skin and it often takes a few weeks for the rash to gradually disappear.

3. The treatment, although about 99% effective, only kills the infection present at the time but the next day you can get re-infected by someone with scabies.

What this means is that before the rash has disappeared after treatment, you can be re-infected and consequently never notice any change in the rash. Consequently, this can lead to a "volley-ball" sort of infection, where people get infected, treated, re-infected etc.

Just recently Paul Heffer and I gave a presentation on the diagnosis and treatment of scabies at Hyland Crest Home. This was well attended by a captivated, somewhat itchy, audience made up of residents, staff and their families.

An issue that was raised was with regard to the diagnostic confusion. This rash has been attributed by various doctors as being caused by many different factors as "contact dermatitis" and "flea bites." The reasons I feel these diagnoses can be excluded are as follows:

1. P.C.O. has been in Hyland Crest Home several times and has meticulously sprayed every nook and cranny. Surely, fleas would not have survived these measures.

2. Scabies, on the other hand, spreads almost exclusively from person to person by close skin contact, not by dust, linen, furniture, etc. That's why it was primarily the residents and the nursing staff that were affected and also why P.C.O. had not effect. They sprayed the building and furniture, while the mites live only in human skin.

3. If it were a "contact dermatitis" from irritation from soaps, bleaches, etc., the employees wouldn't have spread the rash to their family members. The small epidemic was more consistent with an infection and scabies was the only realistic culprit.

The same night we were accompanied by my two colleagues Dr. Christopher Sims and Dr. Peter Watt who work with me at the Minden Medical Centre. Both being new to the community, I felt they could offer some fresh insight into this problem. They saw several interested scratchers and independently diagnosed 36 documented cases of scabies.

The recommended program was that all residents, staff and family members be treated with Kwellada (gamma benzene hexachloride). It's a lotion that's applied to the entire body except for the face and showered off twelve hours later. This is 99% effective, but it is essential that everyone be treated in the same 24 hour period, otherwise it would continue to go back and forth and cause the "7 year itch" that scabies has become better known as. It was pointed out that there is a very small risk of toxicity. Some people would get nausea or a headache, but it's generally very safe and widely used. Alternatively however, pregnant women and children under six were to use Eurax (crotamiton) which is somewhat less effective but completely safe. This was to be applied all over two days in a row and washed off the next day.

The audience was clearly divided into two groups taking opposing views - the "itchers" and the "non-itchers."

The "non-itchers" were not that fussy about taking the treatment. After all, they didn't have any spots and it had been pointed out that there was a risk, although very remote, of toxicity with Kwellada. It was explained to them however, that they may already have the mite and just may not be showing its manifestations yet, and that they would be a source of further spread.

The "itchers" in general took a more "rash" approach. They insisted that everyone should be forced to take the treatment.

It was explained to the "itchers" that we have no legal (or ethical) jurisdiction to force anyone to take a medication they don't want to take. It was hoped that everyone, however, once given an adequate explanation about the transmission of scabies would comply with the prescribed treatment in the spirit of co-operation to try to eradicate this minor epidemic. Mass treatment with Kwellada and Eurax took place last week and it appears there was, indeed, good co-operation.

In the next three weeks, we'll be able to confirm or refute the diagnosis. It is my anticipation the rashes will clear though, proving the diagnosis was scabies. Dr. J. Nethercott, Professor of Dermatology at the University of Toronto agrees with this diagnosis and recommended the mass treatment that was given.

It should be emphasized that there are multiple hospitals and nursing homes in Ontario that are victims of scabies at present. In no way is the outbreak of scabies unique to Hyland Crest and the Home practises high standards of hygiene in both its nursing and housekeeping departments.

I hope this helps to answer any questions remaining concerning this scabies outbreak. Anyone who has an unexplained rash in the community is strongly encouraged to see their Family Physician.

Sled dogs raring to get on the trail

It's still two or three months before the snow starts to fly, but dog-racing enthusiasts across North America are already out in their specially-equipped rigs, training their teams of huskies and hounds and looking forward to the exciting season ahead.

High on their list of major races, and regarded as the first big test of the season, is The Minden Sled Dog Derby, sponsored by Martin Feed Mills of Elmira, Ontario.

The race is always held on the second weekend in January, which means that the 1988 running will take place on January 9 and 10. With a total purse of $10,000 - double the amount offered last year - the fourth edition is bound to draw a record number of first-class mushers from across the continent to the county town of the Haliburton Highlands.

In just four years, the Minden Sled Dog Derby has become the largest sled-dog race in Ontario and is the only one in the province sanctioned by the International Sled Dog Racing Association. A substantial purse, challenging course, thorough organization, and Highlands hospitality drew over 70 teams last year.

The event attracts an international gathering of dog-racers to Minden, some of whom journey hundreds of miles for the chance to compete. They come from as far afield as Quebec, Massachusetts, New York State, Michigan, Minnesota, Alaska, British Columbia and the Yukon, as well as closer to home in Ontario.

The largest purse in the race's four-year history will be divided among the top 15 finishers in each of the two racing categories: four-dog and eight-dog. First prize in the eight-dog race is $2,000 with $1,000 and $500 for second and third places respectively. The top three prizes in the four-dog race are $1,000, $750, and $500. The top three winners in each race also take home a trophy and a bottle of champagne. It all adds up to a first-class event.

The Minden Sled Dog Derby also provides an enjoyable family weekend. Races are run Saturday and Sunday, with the combined times from each heat determining the winners. At the end of Saturday's proceedings, a Kid-and-Mutt race takes place along the length of Main Street. With one kid (sometimes young enough only to sit in the sled) and one trusted dog, each team races from the bridge to the finish line, all cheered on by family, friends and visitors, for modest prizes and hometown glory. Sunday closes with the announcement of the winners and the presentation of the prizes.

Spectators line Main Street for the exciting start and finish of the race. Standing just feet away from the excited, barking dogs entering the starting chute, everyone has a front-row seat as each entry dashes off into the rolling hills surrounding the town. With two minutes separating the start of each team, and up to 40 teams competing in each category, the finishing teams are already returning to Main Street as the last ones are setting out on the course. It makes for a thrilling "day at the races."

Spectators are also welcome to visit the "Pit" area just off Main Street where the dogs and sleds are prepared and where mushers are happy to talk about their favourite sport.

The extensive tourist facilities of Minden and surrounding Haliburton County are all geared up to welcome those visiting the area for the weekend. The accommodation and restaurant operators, renowned for catering to the summer tourist trade, are just as ready to welcome everyone to the beauty of winter.

Martin Feed Mills is the major race sponsor, providing the prize money as well as assistance with organizational expenses. This year, the Ontario Ministry of Tourism and Recreation has provided an $11,900 grant through the Destinations East program to assist with promotion of the event. Labatt's Breweries takes part in the race through provision of its Events Van for the official race timers. The Minden Sled Dog Derby also receives support and encouragement from the local business community and the municipality.

Information on accommodation and other facilities is available from the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce,

Ministry issues warning

The Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources is again warning hunters not to eat the kidneys and liver from moose, or the kidneys from deer because of high cadmium levels.

Cadmium is a heavy metal which can be toxic at high levels of exposure. It occurs naturally at low levels in the ecosystem but may reach higher levels in some areas. Cadmium accumulates in the kidneys and liver of some longer-living species such as moose and white-tailed deer. Experiments have shown that very high concentrations of cadmium can cause kidney and liver damage in mammals.

"Cadmium levels in moose and deer are lowest in southwestern Ontario and highest in central Ontario," Natural Resources Minister Vincent Kerrio said. "The reason for these regional differences is not yet known, but we're conducting further studies to find out why, and how cadmium gets into the ecosystem."

The World Health Organization has set a limit of 0.5 milligrams per week for human consumption of cadmium. Extensive testing in Ontario has established that 300 grams (11 ounces) of liver from deer fawns may be consumed per week, according to WHO guidelines. The ministry recommends that liver from older deer should not be eaten, but that other moose and deer meat are safe for consumption.

Ministry researchers first discovered high cadmium levels in moose kidneys in 1984. Since then, with the co-operation of Ontario hunters, more than 700 moose and 950 white-tailed deer have been tested across the province. One trend that's been noted is that cadmium levels are generally higher in moose than in deer.

The ministry is involved in various co-operative studies with other government agencies and universities to determine the pathways of cadmium in the ecosystem.

Cadmium fact sheet

In 1984 the Ministry of Natural Resources discovered high cadmium levels in moose tested from the Algonquin area.

Cadmium is a heavy metal that is concentrated in the kidneys and, to a lesser extent, in the livers of deer and moose. Older animals tend to have higher cadmium levels since cadmium accumulates in the body over time.

High levels of cadmium may cause serious health problems such as kidney failure and the loss of some liver function in mammals.

The World Health Organization (WHO) has set the limit for human consumption of cadmium at 0.5 milli-grams per week.

Ontario deer and moose meat, except for kidney and liver, have low enough cadmium levels to be safe for eating according to the WHO guideline.

To ensure that the public does not exceed the WHO limit, the Ministry of Natural Resources recommends that the kidneys and liver of moose not be eaten. Likewise, deer kidneys should not be eaten. However, cadmium levels in the liver of fawn deer are low enough that 300 grams (11 ounces) may be eaten per (more on page 26)

Redmen trounce Weldon

Two touchdowns in the last half gave the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Junior Redmen a 12-0 win over I.E. Weldon in football action in Haliburton last Friday.

Jeff Feero put the Redmen on the scoreboard in the third quarter with a run from the six-yard line.

However, a missed convert kept their lead to six points.

The Redmen held firm with their lead and managed another touchdown with an eight-yard run by Cory Hynes in the final quarter. Weldon managed to block the convert keeping the Redmen lead to 12-0.

Although the Redmen offence moved the ball well in the first half, scoring opportunities were thwarted by their own penalties. However, the Redmen defensive team was also able to hold Weldon scoreless.

In earning the impressive win, according to coach John Fitzgerald, the Redmen were aided by some outstanding defensive play by Mark Robinson, Jamie Hancock and Darren Danylichen.

John Vuksic, Cory Hynes and Chris Allaire put in strong performances on the offensive squad to help put the Redmen on the scoreboard.

Enrolment up

Other schools noting an increase in students this year include: Cardiff Elementary school where the number increased by 25 to 104.5 students; Gooderham Elementary School which noted a 6.5 increase to 28.5; J.D. Hodgson Elementary School in Haliburton where four additional students brought the population to 386; Victoria Street Elementary School with 16 new students for a total enrolment of 148; an increase of a single student at Wilberforce Elementary School for a total population of 61.5; and a 12 student increase at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, raising the enrolment to 617.

The only school to note a decrease in student population was the Dorset Elementary School where the enrolment dropped from 11.5 to 10.5 students.

The number of trainable retarded students in the system remained constant at 11.

There are also 28 students receiving instruction at area group homes.

The total enrolment of students receiving instruction in the county is 1,834.

The Haliburton board also purchases education from adjacent boards. 24 elementary students and 14 secondary school students are receiving their education in Muskoka, while one elementary student and 55 secondary school students are being taught in Hastings County.

week. Liver from older deer should not be eaten.

These recommendations are based on a three year study conducted by the Ministry of Natural Resources. With the cooperation of hunters, more than 700 moose and 950 white-tailed deer from across Ontario were tested for cadmium.

Regional differences were found in cadmium levels across the province. In general, cadmium levels were higher in moose than in deer. Cadmium levels, on the average, were highest in central Ontario, and lowest in the south-western part of the province. Other regions had intermediate levels. Current research is investigating the possible reasons for these regional differences.

Lots still to do in garden

- submitted -

What beautiful weather we have had for garden clean-up! Some people are a step ahead in this, having had a visit from Jack Frost. However, a good many are still enjoying beautiful garden blooms of so many kinds.

Those who enjoy Horticulture never run out of something to do. Besides clean up, there are roots yet to dig such as dahlias, potatoes, turnips, carrots, etc.; bulbs to dig and store such as gladioli, anemones, etc. From now until snow-fall there is the enjoyable task of planting spring flowering bulbs - and what a variety! Daffodils, countless types of narcissus, scillas, snowdrops, grape hyacinths, crocus, lilies, hyacinths, etc.

Even after the snow comes we spend the next six months caring for our houseplants. We spend time planning next year's garden.

This past year we have had many excellent speakers at our Horticulture meetings. They each bring such wonderful information, with books, film etc. and are always so willing to answer questions and offer helpful ideas for our problems.

At the September meeting we had one such person, Kay Roe from Oshawa who spoke about Perennials. She had a wealth of information to pass along - about the old favourites and the many new varieties. What to plant in sun - in shade, semi shade and sun. Those who missed this, really were the losers.

Harvest time is at hand and at the meeting of the Minden and District Horticulture on Tuesday, October 6 at 7:30 will reveal that kind, that is weigh in for pumpkins - prizes will be awarded for the largest. Besides that contest there is another contest, prizes for the largest sunflower head, first, second and third prizes will be awarded to the prize winners of these contests the same evening.

So come out and enjoy this evening. We have oodles of draws which vary each meeting, roots, plants, bulbs, flowers, plants of many kinds, seeds, fruits, vegetables, you just never know what could be yours in the draw. You have your choice.

November brings an end to the meetings for the year, with election of directors and officers. That same meeting is the time when awards are given for the monthly competitions.

Hope to see you at the "Pumpkin Weigh-in" on October 6 - with the largest sunflower head smiling at us!

Trent-Severn report

Though some rain came to Haliburton, yet the stored water there declined about 3 per cent to 33.3 per cent by September 21, 1987. This occurred despite the fact that the flows of the rivers from these lakes, e.g. Gull River and Burnt River went below their usual minima.

This time of year has some special requirements that affect several Haliburton area lakes in 1987, such that the equal percentage policy must be departed from early. The continuing departure first of all involves earlier drawdown of Kushog, Big Bob and Little Bob Lakes to aid shallow Lake Trout spawning success. This results in winter levels being targeted for the end of September on these three lakes.

In 1987 we also have some reconstruction work on the dam at Elliot Falls which holds up Moore's Lake. A lower than usual level is aiding there in restoration of the concrete.

The third temporary exception involves Miskwabi Long Lake where the bottom stoplog timbers have deteriorated. To properly and safely replace them with new tighter-fitting stoplogs requires a deeper lowering than usual. With the removal of 30 to 40 cm more water, the new stoplogs can be inserted safely and the lake begin to refill before lake trout egg-laying begins in that lake.

Kawartha Lakes levels are into decline again too, despite minimum outflows. It is expected that rain next week (beginning on September 27) will be adequate to preserve navigation depths.

OPP watching the roads

The Ontario Provincial Police "Strict is Fair" and RIDE enforcement programs will continue to be in effect during the Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

The long-weekend has traditionally seen a high volume of traffic on the province's highways as families gather for Thanksgiving festivities or to close down summer cottages for the coming winter.

The holiday weekend is also a time when many people drive to the country to enjoy the colours of autumn.

During the 1986 Thanksgiving weekend OPP officers investigated 269 collisions in which six people died and 446 were injured.

This past Labour Day weekend the OPP investigated 10 fatal motor vehicle accidents, compared to six fatal accidents on the same weekend in 1986.

In the first eight months of 1987 (January to August) the number of fatal motor vehicle accidents within OPP jurisdiction rose by 13.3 per cent over the same period last year.

Impaired driving and excessive vehicle speed are still the two most significant contributors to fatal accidents.

"Lives can be saved only when everyone drives with caution," said OPP Commissioner Archie Ferguson.

"I have instructed my officers to place special emphasis on the "Strict is Fair" and RIDE programs for this upcoming Thanksgiving weekend."

To Autumn

She wears a gown of brilliant hues
Her lovely throat is bare,
And for adornment, sparkling bright
Are sapphires in her hair.
Her restless limbs a sight to see
Her laugh is crisp and clear
Her sturdy feet in velvet brown,
Her footsteps show no fear
As through the countryside she strides
And greets us one and all
Her stately beauty brings delight
We dearly love the Fall.

Dear Readers:

Lovely weather, but I missed the news again: Miss once more and I'll be fired!

Our service Sunday evening held with Rev. J. Burgess and the Thompsons in charge.

Tuesday morning, Rev. George Elliott of St. Paul's Anglican Church in Minden took the service.

Our sympathy is extended to the family and friends of Elmer Crawford who passed away after a long illness.

Edna Cowan is spending a few days with her daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kellett came to visit their sister Mrs. Buttery.

Everyone is busy getting ready for Christmas and the fall bazaar.

Sorry to report that Mrs. Myles was taken to the hospital. We hope she will be better soon.

We are all glad to see Ina McGuire able to get around a bit without the wheel chair. Keep up the good work Ina.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy

Cameron from Peterborough came yesterday to take Winnie Barnum to Haliburton to see their brother who isn't very well at present.

Glad to see Mrs. Sutherland home from hospital but her hand is still bandaged. Mrs. Jean Taylor had her daughter for lunch on Friday.

Mrs. Oliver was out for dinner last evening to celebrate her birthday. I heard someone say 69th....

It's nice to have Judy back on the job and looking so nice.

My three granddaughters, Debby Dart of Haliburton, Carol and Kari Francis of Orono came to see me on Sunday afternoon. Angus Coulter had Susan Crawford of Calgary call on Monday, and Brenda of Minden.

Movies on Tuesday afternoon were "Springtime in Holland" and "Horsedraw Magic".

Til next week.

Hi Kids!

Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

Last week on the French River I watched 28 turkey vultures rocking gently on great wings, gliding, and spiralling upward. Wings motionless they circled silently above tree level. One would have been tempted to say they were experiencing the sheer pleasure of working the updrafts. However, the main attraction was the pile of fish heads and guts placed out each evening on a near-by rocky point by a fishing lodge. The vultures were the clean-up crew. The last time I had seen so many vultures, they were circling over the mountain gorges of Cuba. There they descend to the plain to clean up the cattle carcasses.

In the 1946 edition of Taverner's Birds of Canada, he notes that turkey vultures enter Canada only along the most southern boundary. But in the last decade, the turkey vulture has extended its range north and east and now nests as far north as the Bruce. The turkey vulture may have nested even farther north near the French River. The proprietor of the lodge told me that some vultures had been around since June. Now, in late September, the flock was growing daily in preparation for migration.

Taverner calls the vulture's flight one of the wonders of the physicist. Without any discernible movement it hovers in the air or, taking advantage of thermals, spirals higher. Then, on motionless outspread pinions, still circling, it maintains its position for hours without a single apparent stroke of the wing.

Turkey vultures nest in rock crevices, hollow stumps or thickets, usually laying two eggs on a mat of decayed wood or leaves. When the young hatch they are covered with white down and are fed on regurgitated carrion. For this reason one would wish to be upwind of a nest. Since the vulture's principal food is carrion, in hot climates, its cleaning up of carcasses is a health safeguard and, in some places, Cuba for example, it is protected by law for its contribution to sanitation.

Within the next couple of weeks, flocks of this large dark bird will circle, floating gracefully on upturned wings along the shores of Lake Ontario and Lake Erie as they work their way west and then south. Because they are soaring birds, they never travel far in a straight line, but must circle to gain altitude. With its 6 foot wingspan and scooped back wing position it is easily recognizable in the air. In Ontario, only the eagle has a greater wingspan. From underneath, the turkey vulture's wings look two-toned; the arm part appears black and the spread flight feathers, in good light, silver grey.

With the featherless neck and head of the carrion eater, red in the adult, gray in the immature, the turkey vulture at close range is a rather repulsive-looking fellow. But airborne in effortless flight he commands admiration. On a clear day in early October watch for migrating flocks circling lazily.

HOW MUCH FIXUP?

Would you buy your house, the way it looks right now? Does it look inviting? Lovingly cared for? Before you put your property on the market, spend some time and effort - and just a little money - in fixing it up to sell.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

This is not the time for a major overhaul. You just want to make the best of what you have.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Soap and water and a little paint can accomplish a lot. Sparkling windows and clean walls will brighten the look of the house. If rugs look stained or if you have pets remember this - slight odors that you have learned to live with, just might be offensive to a prospective buyer. Shampoo those carpets! Step up the wattage of lights especially in halls and stairways. You may want to consider discarding any junk that you wouldn't take when you move. Moving will be easier and the house will look roomier.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS

Outside, spruce up the lawn and deck. Paint the front entrance.

If you use well water, contact me for a FREE WATER TEST (mortgage companies require proof of portable water). If there happens to be a problem let's fix it now while there is time.

Drop-in use encouraged

- submitted -

The Drop-In Centre was developed in 1983 by Haliburton County Home Support Services to provide a place for older adults to meet each other socially in a comfortable setting. Also, to provide a comfortable waiting room and meeting place for those from out-of-town who come to Haliburton for doctor's appointments, shopping, banking, etc.

The Centre was to be a source of information and encouragement to embrace healthy lifestyles. Activities began to develop in early 1984 and create a positive atmosphere for growth of the older adults' self-concept.

All of these goals are constantly being addressed and the Centre has developed into a very active and activities oriented location with Drop-In use encouraged.

Developing a "Wellness" concept is the aim of the Drop-In Centre for the future. "Wellness" in this context takes in a person's total health - physical, emotional and social. Therefore, future programs will be attempting to develop into areas such as nutrition fitness and new skills or interests.
